Morgan Stanley Protected Absolute Return Barrier Notes Based on the Value of the S&P 500 Index	ANG	617483524

Information on the Notes

Morgan Stanley (the "Issuer") has issued Protected Absolute Return Barrier Notes ("Notes") based on the value of the S&P 500 Index (the "Index"). The Notes were priced at $10 each and mature on August 20, 2010.

The Notes provide principal protection as well as potential appreciation based on the absolute value of the return of the Index, but only if the Index remains within a specified range at all times during the term of the Notes. Consequently, investors will receive a positive return whether the value of the Index on the valuation date is higher or lower than the initial index value, as long as the value of the Index remains within the specified range at all times. The specified range is larger on the upside than on the downside and, accordingly, the maximum payment at maturity is greater if the Index appreciates than if the Index depreciates from the initial index value. The Notes are senior unsecured obligations of the Issuer, and all payments on the notes, including the repayment of principal, are subject to the credit risk of the Issuer.

At maturity, investors will receive: $10 + Supplemental Redemption Amount (if any)

The Supplemental Redemption Amount will be calculated as follows:

- If at all times during the observation period the index value is within the index range:
$10 times the absolute index return; or
- If at any time on any day during the observation period the index value is outside the index range:
$0.

The observation period is the period of regular trading hours on each index business day on which there is no market disruption event with respect to the Index, beginning on, and including, the index business day following the pricing date and ending on, and including, the valuation date (August 18, 2010).

Subject to a maximum total payment at maturity of $13.50 per Note if the final index value increases from the initial index value or $12.50 per Note if the final index value decreases from the initial index value.

The index range is any value of the Index that is:

- greater than or equal to 577.53750, which is the initial index value x 75%; and
- less than or equal to 1,039.56750, which is the initial index value x 135%

The initial index value is 770.05. The final index value will be the closing value of the index on August 18, 2010.

Please see the prospectus for the Notes for more details regarding the calculations and details regarding the Index.

It is expected that the market value of the Notes will depend substantially on the value of the Index and may be affected by a number of other interrelated factors including, among other things: the general level of interest rates, the volatility of the Index, the time remaining to maturity, the dividend yield of the stocks comprising the Index, and the credit ratings of the Issuer.
